AUDIENCE
Newly promoted school leaders

FORMAT
Cohort, with individual coaching

DURATION
Thirteen weeks, two to three hours a week

GROUP SIZE
Cohorts of five to ten

PREREQUISITE
A recent promotion into a leadership role.

WHAT IT IS

The first ninety days of a new school leadership role, run deliberately. Built for the person who was an excellent teacher or practitioner and now leads colleagues.

WHAT HAPPENS

- Scoping in spring, when the promotion is announced.
- Assessments and first individual sessions over the summer.
- Cohort work through the fall term, finished before the winter review.
- Off-cycle promotions start whenever the promotion did.

WHAT YOU LEAVE WITH

- A first term spent on purpose rather than in reaction.
- A peer cohort across departments at the same moment in their careers.

BEST FOR

Schools promoting from within, which is most schools.

SCOPE AND RATE

INVESTMENT
Quoted per cohort.

The timing usually straddles the summer, so scoping conversations belong in spring.
